AWAKENING TALENTS DEVELOPING STRENGTHS!

Headteacher's Message

Good afternoon! We have nearly finished week 7 and it continues to be quite an experience for everyone. The country is expecting news from the government soon on what are the plans for schools and the lockdown. We will let you know as soon as we find anything out.

The children are continuing to work hard on the Google Classroom and the teachers are doing a great job in responding and adding new activities. Thank you for everyone's hard work. 97% of the school are now engaging with the learning platform, well done guys. If you still can't access the information, please let us know and we can sort some other materials out for you.

The school continues to be open for our key worker children and there have been no new visitors (animals) this week. However, Mr Wilson is trying to catch up on some painting when things are quiet.

Tomorrow is a Bank Holiday to celebrate VE Day. Probably not what we were hoping, but we are loving some of the medal designs and writing that is being sent in. Please check out the twitter and the website to see some of the children's incredible work. Thank you parents for your support.

Mr Collins is even having a go at videoing and holding an assembly. I think this type of learning is something unique for everyone.

Please ensure you enjoy the bank holiday weekend and the nice weather. Take some time to relax and enjoy your family time.

Look after yourselves and stay safe!

Birthdays : Hollie, Lucy, Rishab, Rome, and Elias' mum
